

International Associate Member,
Japan Society on Water Environment

Dear Colleagues

We cordially invite you to join Japan Society on Water Environment (JSWE) as an international associate member.

The purposes of the JSWE activities include (i) academic surveys, researches, and promulgation of knowledge in fields related to water environments, (ii) contribution to preserve and create healthy water environments, and (iii) services towards academic and cultural development.

Our activities conducted for these purposes include (i) publication of the journals “Journal of Water and Environmental Technology (JWET)” and “Journal of Japan Society on Water Environment (in Japanese)”, (ii) hosting of the international “Water and Environment Technology” conference, the bilateral symposiums on water environment, the JSWE domestic conference and symposium, (iii) commendation for nurturing future leaders and promoting of cultural activities for water environments, (iv) hosting of public lectures.

For detailed information, please visit our website (<http://www.jswe.or.jp/eng/index.html>).

The membership is provided with our great honor to individuals recommended by the two JSWE members retaining the membership status for more than 5 years. Membership charge is not required. The privileges of international associate members are as follows:

- The members can participate in the JSWE annual conferences, symposiums, and seminars at the regular member prices.
- The email newsletters in English are provided to inform about the latest activities of JSWE, such as contents of the latest issue of JWET and WET conference.
- The members can apply for JSWE overseas member invitation program (JSWE-IDEA Water Environment International Exchange Award), by which JSWE can invite a few awardees to the JSWE annual conference to promote international network and cooperation (<http://www.jswe.or.jp/eng/awards/idea/index.html>).

Please note that the members may be asked as the JSWE's partner to contribute to the JSWE activities related to the water environment of their countries.

If you are willing to join JSWE as an international associate member, please send the application form in the accompanying sheet to the secretariat via email or FAX.
